

CEPI Producers Directory 2022

Foreword:

Since its establishment in 1990, CEPI – European Audiovisual Production association has organised and represented the interests of independent film & audiovisual producers across Europe.

After 32 years, CEPI broadened its representativeness, expanding its membership to 17 national trade associations of independent producers established in 15 European countries. With the participation of the pan European association, Animation in Europe, CEPI's reach has extended to 24 European countries, for a total of more than 2.600 production companies, (2022 figures), making CEPI the largest network of independent production companies in Europe.

Through its activities CEPI supports film and television producers, helping them to be informed and engage with European and national policy makers and promote the importance of sustainable cultural and economic growth in the European audiovisual sector.

The extraordinary representativity and international engagement of CEPI makes the organisation the legitimate voice for Europe's independent production.

Supporting the development of a market in and outside Europe where independent film and audiovisual production companies can flourish and compete is one of our main objectives.

For this reason, CEPI and its members welcome and encourage other national independent production associations to join our network.

Film & Music Austria (FAMA) is the trade association for the film and music sector in the Austrian Federal Economic Chamber.

FAMA represents 6,000 member companies with a total of 20,000 employees. Approximately one third of our members are in the sound and music industry with recording studios, independent and major music labels, some music publishers and associated services. The remaining two thirds are pressing plants, technical service providers and film production companies for cinema and television, as well as advertising, educational and commercial films. The entire sector generates an annual turnover of over 2 billion Euros and thus a value added of approximately 320 million per year in Austria.

Here below, are listed the 75 production companies within FAMA's membership:
